

1 EPIC Wk 18 World at War

2 Greetings and welcome back to epic journey through Church history. We take 20 seconds to go through 3 the 2000-year history of the Catholic Church. Now we're on our session of a world at war. We just 4 finished our discussion of the revolutions in modernism time period in the Church, how we saw the 5 Church affected by the, by the French Revolution, and also by the rise of modernism, that heresy that 6 brings intellectual confusion which attacks the meaning of the faith, it is a more formal attack against 7 the faith and much more insidious than ancient heresies that we've previously discussed leading up to 8 that period of time. So, before we get into this time period of World War and see the effects of how the 9 enlightenment and French Revolution actually impacted Western European society and the Church as a 10 whole, let's take time out and begin our time together in prayer.

11 Father, Son, Holy Spirit, amen. Heavenly Father, we thank you for this time again together.

12 Lord, we thank you for the opportunity to study our faith. We pray especially as we focus on this 13 time period of a world of war that we may come to know the effects of this time period in the history
14 of our world and that we are shaped by your grace and transformed by Your grace and may work so 15 that our world may never again experiences death, and devastation and destruction that we have 16 seen. May have Your grace to work for peace as did your holy saints and your Pope's words for peace 17 during this period of time, especially Pope Benedict XV and Pius XII. Help us Lord, by Your grace to be 18 effective witnesses and evangelists of the faith in order to spread your light throughout the world.

19 We pray these things we pray all things in Jesus' name. Let us pray together, Glory be to the Father
20 and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, as it was in the beginning is now and ever shall be world without 21 end. Father, Son, the Holy Spirit. Amen.

22 Thank you all again for being here with us today during the session of World at War; all those listening 23 on the audio or watching the DVDs or in your parish or at home. So we're talking about the world at war, 24 this time period when Europe was ravaged by two devastating wars and we see two during this time of 25 the 20th century, the rise of fascism and communism and how both of these political ideologies really 26 shaped Europe and took large parts of Europe away from the faith and really begin to subject the 27 individuals to the whims of the state and began also an act of persecution of the Church and of 28 Catholics. So, we've chosen for this time period from 1914 to 1957 the color bright red in order to 29 symbolize the color used by the National Socialists in Germany, as well as fascist Italy in order to help us 30 remember what's going on here. This is a time period of great death and devastation and destruction 31 that is within our recent memory. So, it's important again for us to look back at this time and remember 32 what happened so we can learn that and keep that memory alive and make sure that these types of 33 events do not ever come again to our world. So our theme during this period of time is a discussion in 34 this session of the rise of fascism and national socialism (communism) where the individual begins to 35 be subjected to the state, where the whims of the state and the whims of the government begin to be 36 supreme, where the states try to control all aspects of individual life, where your loyalty is with the state 37 rather than with anything else, like your faith or the Church. We also see a rise in persecution against 38 Catholics wherever these types of political ideologies come into play, whether fascism, National 39 Socialism, or even communism in Russia. And it's a dark period of widespread death and destruction.
40 We'll talk about that as we go through the 20th century where we can see the effects of the 18th and 41 19th centuries, about the fruit of these enlightened philosophies that separate the face of Europe from 42 her Christian roots. And when I said earlier in our last time period, if you separate yourself from the 43 Church, you separate society from the Church, and anything can come in and fill the vacuum, and 44 especially that leaves open this opportunity for great evil to come into the picture as well; to subject the 45 individual human being to the state and to bring about their own ideology and this morality that is 46 completely separate from God-given objective truth.

47 So, Europe during this time period is shaken by two devastatingly horrific World Wars. The first world 48 war erupts in August of 1914, because Archduke Franz Ferdinand of the Austro-Hungarian empire is 49 assassinated by Serb nationalists in Sarajevo in June of 1914. This assassination then causes the 50 European nations to mobilize the Austro-Hungarian empire and declare war against Serbia because of 51 the pacts and alliances and treaties that existed among the nations of Europe at this time. That 52 declaration of war by the Austro-Hungarian empire to the Serbs, then forces all these other countries 53 also to mobilize and declare war. So, at the end, we have Russia, Germany and France and England, all 54 engaged in warfare this horrific war that will go on for four long years. Within five weeks of the 55 assassination, the major nations of Europe had engulfed themselves in war. Early in 1914 and through 56 the rest of the year of 1914, Germany actually makes some great military strides. They go through 57 Belgium, they conquer the eastern part of France, and they get very close to Paris, but ultimately, 58 they're forced back. Then a stalemate happens along the western front in Europe. And so, we see 59 Germany and the allied nations of France and Britain engaging in this stalemated warfare with the 60 creation of trenches There's over 1300-mile-long front of trenches all throughout Western Europe as 61 these three nations fight against each other, and not nit from 1916 to 1917. We see the Allied cause 62 making some gains, pushing the Germans back a little. Eventually, the United States will come into the 63 picture in late 1917 into 1918. The arrival of US troops helps end the war in Europe with the signing of 64 the armistice on November 11 of 1918. The First World War brought about a horrific amount of death, 65 devastation and destruction. As a result of this war, 8 million Europeans died and 5 million were 66 wounded. We really have in our modern day a very difficult time understanding the extent of the 67 devastation caused by this first World War. And almost 100 years ago, there was as an example, that the 68 British on the first day of battle in the Battle of Somme in July of 1916, suffered 60,000 casualties. On 69 one day of battle that's dead, missing and wounded. It's hard for us as Americans to really understand 70 the extent of that devastation. But if you've ever been to the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, DC, that 71 great, black granite slab of a memorial, shaped like a V, you can see on those panels the names of over 72 50,000 Americans who lost their lives during that decade long War in Vietnam. So, imagine those names 73 and that devastation in just one day. That's what happened here in the first world war. There were 74 entire towns in Britain and other places of Europe and France and Germany, who lost all of the men 75 from 18 to 35. Entire towns devastated of their men. And so, there's monuments in most towns, even 76 throughout Britain and other places you can see monuments today of all the dead from that horrific, 77 horrific war. That's hard for us to understand. So why did Europe engage in such a horrific act during the 78 early part of the 20th century? From a material and temporal perspective with so much going for 79 Europe, why did this happen? There's really no good temporal reason. The great military historian John 80 Keegan says this about the First World War and why it happened. He said, The First World War is a 81 mystery. Its origins are mysterious and so is its course. Why is it that a prosperous continent at the height 82 of its success as an agent of global wealth and power, and at one of the peaks of its intellectual and 83 cultural achievements, choose to risk all it had won for itself, and all it had to offer the world to a lottery

84 of such a vicious and local internecine conflict? So, it was a modern-day historian asking this question, 85 why did you do this? There is no good temporal reason for it. But I think if we see this event through the 86 eyes of faith, we can see that there is definitively a spiritual reason for why the 1st World War 87 happened. And it happened because of what we talked about in our last time period. This move of 88 Europe away from its Christian roots, this change in society of how to understand society from an 89 intellectual perspective, the rise of modernism, and in particular, the rise of these enlightened thinkers.
90 They made it their goal, to become an anti-Christian movement; to move Europe and the whole world
91 away from the Catholic Church. So, in the eyes of faith, we see how these degenerate ideologies bring 92 Europe away from her Christian roots. We can also definitely see the work of Satan in this century, 93 especially in this war, but we'll see also that during the war, Pope Benedict XV was one of the is one of 94 the least known popes in the history of our Church; not a lot of books written about Benedict XV and 95 many of us in the modern day don't really know that much about him and who he was and what he did.
96 He doesn't occupy any kind of major significance in any work on Church history, but he had a very 97 significant papacy, and his papacy really shapes the papacy that will occur during the Second World War
98 with the papacy of Pius XII. So, to really understand how the Church responds to the Second World War,

99 we need to understand what Pope Benedict XV did and why. Pope Pious' wealth, actions and activities, 100 how he helps to bring relief to Europe and how he deals with the situation of Germany and the Jews 101 later on in the 20th century. Pope Benedict XV had three main principles that he followed during the 102 course of the First World War in terms of how the Vatican and how the Church was going to relate to 103 these nations at war in Europe.

104 1). PERFECT NEUTRALITY: He wanted to ensure that the world knew that the Church was not going to 105 take sides. During this conflict, the Church was going to be governed by a specific principle of perfect
106 neutrality. Even though he was neutral, He wanted to ensure that the Church would continue to teach 107 during this conflict and try to bring an end to the war. So, he always taught and preached that war 108 should be governed by moral law; that there are certain things that you can do in war and certain things 109 that you cannot do in war. His whole advocacy of a total war concept was where you would bomb 110 specifically civilians instead of military targets; he spoke out against. He also spoke out against the use of 111 certain weapons, which were just immoral weapons like poison gas that affect not only the combatants 112 but also noncombatants. Sometimes his protests were issued publicly. Sometimes his protests of what 113 went on during the war were issued privately. And that's the same type of activity in principle that Pius 114 XII will enact in the Second World War. Sometimes it was prudent to issue a public outcry. Sometimes 115 it's more important diplomatically to do so privately. So, he also spoke out on the deportation of Belgian 116 and French workers from occupied territory in Belgium and France, and their deportation to Germany to 117 be used as laborers in Germany. So, he spoke out against that and sometimes again, he spoke privately.

118 2. PERFECT CHARITY: The second major principle was throughout the war he extended charity to all 119 victims of the war, regardless of their nationality. So, the Church was going to be governed by perfect 120 neutrality, and also by perfect charity, really to all victims of the war. PRISONERS of WAR BUREAU: He 121 oversaw and crafted various prisoner exchanges between the nations at war. He also established what 122 was called the Prisoners of War Bureau, where he provided communication and relief between POWs 123 and their families. So, if your father your husband, your brother had been captured and was a POW, you 124 can contact the Vatican, ask about his whereabouts and his health and the Vatican would contact that 125 nation where he was held captive and establish a line of communication between the families.

126 FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE: He also made sure that he passed out and distributed vast amounts of money 127 to all the victims during this war. He gave out 5.5 million lira from the Vatican's personal Treasury, the 128 Church's own money, his personal money that he had control over as Pope-he divvied that out and 129 distributed that to people who were in need. He also distributed 30 million lira that people donated 130 throughout the Church; people would send money to the Holy Father, and he would take the money 131 that was sent to him and then distributed to those in need. It's estimated that he gave away so much 132 money that when he died, the Vatican actually had to go into debt and take a loan out to pay for his 133 funeral expenses.

134 3. PEACE is PRIORITY: So, the third principle that Pope Benedict XV did during the First World War was 135 his call for peace at every opportunity. He always took every opportunity that he could to call for peace 136 and try to bring an end to the hostilities. In 1917, he issued what was known as the plea for peace, 137 where he brings about a discussion on how the nations could come to peace, where he called for a 138 reduction in the production of armaments, where he brought forth the principle and the idea that any 139 future or issue between nations can be settled at the international level through some kind of 140 arbitration and negotiation. The idea of a United Nations was that of Benedict XV but did not come until 141 after the Second World War. US President Woodrow Wilson took many of Benedict's ideas and brought 142 them into his 14 points. And he adopted most of the proposals that Benedict had actually brought forth 143 at the end of the war. He also continued to make calls for peace by saying that peace should be granted 144 without reparations and Germany as a whole should not be forced into paying reparations to the allied 145 nations that she had invaded and brought devastation to. If the world had listened to Benedict XV, 146 peace without reparation, then perhaps Hitler never would have come to power in Germany and the 147 second world war might not have ever happened. Now, after the war, there was a great international 148 respect for Benedict's actions during the war. The Turks even erected a statue in his honor because of 149 his peace efforts during the war, not only for how he served the Church during the war, but even after 150 the war, he continued to serve the Church well by completing the new Code of Canon Law that had 151 begun under his predecessor Pius X. He actually reiterated the condemnations of modernism and moral 152 relativism, also that were issued by his predecessor Pope St. Pius X. He also canonized Saint Joan of Arc 153 during this time so to try to give Europe a saint that they could look to, try to imitate the life of Christ

154 and not engage in warfare again. Ultimately, the Pope Benedict died in January of 1922. His whole life 155 and his pontificate shaped even our own day because our current holy father, Pope Benedict XVI chose 156 the name Benedict in order to emulate Benedict XV. He said soon after he became pope he stated, I 157 wish to speak of why I chose the name Benedict. Firstly, I remember Pope Benedict the XV, that 158 courageous prophet of peace who guided the Church through turbulent times of war. In his footsteps, I
159 place my ministry in the service of reconciliation and harmony between peoples. So, to understand 160 Benedict XVI, we have to understand the pontificate of Benedict XV and what he did during his 161 pontificate to bring about peace among nations. And so, this obviously is a central focus of our current 162 Holy Father's ministry.

163 FATIMA: Now almost to the end of the war, Europe is presented with a miraculous event. And this is the 164 appearance of our Blessed Mother, and she appears in Portugal in 1917 to three small shepherd children 165 Lucida dos Santos, Francisco and Jacinta Martos. First an angel appeared to them, and then eventually, 166 the Blessed Mother who will appear to them, and she appeared to them first on May 13 of 1917. And 167 then she would appear on the 13th day of each month over ~~eight consecutive months~~. She told them to 168 pray the rosary every day to bring peace to the world and an end to the war. And actually, she appeared 169 to them after a score of six consecutive months from May 13, 1917, all the way up to October. So, when 170 she appeared to them, she showed them three visions. The first one she gave them was a vision of what 171 it was like for souls to be in hell and in order to help them realize how the importance of praying the 172 rosary and imitating the life of Christ and living a life of virtue and of Christian morality. She also asked 173 for Russia to be consecrated to her Immaculate Heart. Unfortunately, it did not come to pass and later in 174 1917, the Russian Bolshevik revolution would come to pass, and Bolshevism and communism would 175 affect not only Europe as a whole but even the whole world, but also in particular the Catholic Church, 176 which will suffer under severe persecution in Russia. And then the Blessed Mother's secret that she gave 177 to the children was a vision of a bishop dressed in white, who would be gunned down and so this vision 178 was to foretell events that would happen in the future. And she said to them, too, This war will end. But 179 if men do not refrain from offending God, another and more terrible war will begin during the pontificate 180 of Pius XI. And so, she gives a whole other indication to the world that unless the world changes, unless 181 you come back to her Christian roots, unless she ends her separation from the civilization and the 182 culture in the Church, which brought her to where she was, at this time of the 20th century, another, 183 more devastating war would come to pass. Unfortunately, that prophecy came true when a second 184 world war came upon Europe in 1939. The last appearance of our Blessed Mother in Portugal was on 185 October 13, 1917, where she appeared to the children and the children saw her in St. Joseph and the 186 infant Jesus as well. And there were 70,000 people gathered around the children to try to see our lady 187 as well as the children they didn't see or label what they did see was a miraculous event of the sun, 188 dancing across the sky. And this helped to show these people the reality of God. The reality is the 189 Blessed Mother tries again to bring about a conversion of heart and conversion of souls to Christ and to 190 the Church. Ultimately, Lucido dos Santos and Francesco Martos die at a very young age, 10 and 11.
191 They die as a result of this influenza epidemic that had come about as a result of the First World War.
192 Jacinto Santoso actually lives for quite an extended period of time. She doesn't die until much later until 193 2005, at the ripe young age of 98, and she died on February 13, 2005. Both Jacinta and Francesco 194 Martos were beatified by our late Holy Father John Paul II on May 13, 2000. So, our Lady appears and 195 gives a clarion call to return to her Christian roots, and if she refuses to do so or doesn't, then again, a

196 more devastating war would come into the world, and only then would we see a rise of communism and 197 socialism throughout the world which will persecute the Church. And that's exactly what happened.
198 MEXICO: We see first in Mexico in 1917, the rise of a socialistic, anti-religious revolutionary government 199 that will actively persecute the Church. Just to give you a sense of how bad things got in Mexico, during 200 this time there was a governor of the province of Tabasco under the name of Tomas Cannonball, who 201 named his children Lenin, Lucifer and Satan. This is how far from the great country of Mexico, once 202 aligned so closely to the Catholic Church, had fallen away with the rise of the socialism. So those are 203 kind of hard names to live up to if you're a kid. Under persecution from 1931 to 1936, churches are 204 closed, Church run schools, orphanages and hospitals also are shut down by the revolutionary 205 government in Mexico. Some bishops are actually stripped of their citizenship and expelled from the 206 country in 1927. Clergy were arrested and forced to act in secret. Again, we see another country 207 enacting the state sponsored persecution of the Church and the Church forced to go underground but 208 we still see the heroic witness of priests who are willing, at the at the risk of their own lives, to minister 209 to the Catholics in this country. We see one particular priest that's that becomes a martyr for his witness 210 and his intimate life with Christ. And this is the martyr blessing Miguel Pro. Miguel Pro is arrested, along 211 with two of his brothers on trumped up charges of participating in a plot to assassinate the Mexican 212 president in 1927. He was a 36-year-old man and one of 10 children from his family. He had a special 213 relationship with laborers and really wanted to minister to them. That was the special focus of his 214 apostolic activity. During the persecution, he would even wear disguises in order to go around and 215 minister to these Catholics in secret. Execution was ordered by the regime, and they actually invited 216 journalists and photographers to come in to record his execution in the hope that by doing so they can 217 spread the images that would help prevent people from continuing to live their Catholic faith and that 218 they would leave the faith. Unfortunately, what happened because it was such a moving image that 219 Blessed Miguel Pro brought to his execution; he embraced his martyrdom was such great fervor and 220 heroism, that it became not a image that had people leave or flee from the Church, but rather people 221 were drawn to the faith because of it. Right before he was executed, he stretched out his arms in the 222 form of a cross, and his last words were Long live Christ the King, and then he was executed by a firing 223 squad. And this image became so popular in Mexico, the image of that photograph of him right before 224 his death, that the regime had to ban it because it was used and referenced by so many people. It's 225 estimated that 250 to 300,000 people were killed as a result of this revolutionary regime in Mexico, in 226 the socialist regime in the 1920s and 1930s. And today Mexico still suffers from the effects of this 227 revolutionary regime. It wasn't until 1991, that anti Catholic articles of the Constitution of Mexico were 228 finally repealed. So, Mexico was still struggling very much to recover her Catholic identity as a result of 229 this socialist regime.

230 RUSSIA: On the other side of the world from the revolution in Mexico, there is the Bolshevik Revolution
231 in Russia. Revolutionaries take over that country, and they're atheist at heart they began to attack 232 religion and persecute the Church in January of 1918. A decree is issued against the religion calling for 233 the complete and utter separation of Church and state and also calling for the Catholic Church to be 234 deprived of all of its lands and all of its possessions. So the government comes in and confiscates Church 235 land. In 1922 alone, 8000 priests and monks were executed throughout Russia simply for being Catholic.
236 By 1925, it is estimated that 200,000 Catholics and every single Catholic bishop in Russia vanished or 237 was killed in this year alone. The Soviets continue their persecution countries that are aligned with them 238 or that they actually occupy especially the country of Ukraine, a country that hasn't had a deep 239 relationship with the Catholic Church, has always persecute Ukrainian Catholics, and actually tried to get 240 the Ukrainian Catholics and Ukrainian Catholic Church to join with the Russian Orthodox Church to enter 241 into SCISM and move away from the Catholic Church. But the Ukrainian Catholics persisted in their 242 loyalty to the Holy Father and to the Church as a whole. If you want a good understanding of what was 243 going on in Russia during this time in the 1930s, 40s, and 50s, even to the 60s, I highly recommend the 244 works of a priest by the name of Father Walter Chizik. He writes a book of great importance and with 245 great spiritual authority. It is called With God in Russia, which is his autobiography. He was a priest who 246 went into Russia and ministered secretly, was captured by the Soviets and held in prison for a long 247 period of time, even spent time in Siberia in a gulag, and his works are just full of his love for the Russian 248 people and how he continued to minister, as a priest, throughout this this captivity. So, we'll see how 249 revolution then sweeps into other countries into Italy and Germany during this period of a world at war.

250 SPAIN: we have a great Spanish Civil War, which erupts in 1936 and that also greatly impacts the 251 Church. We have the nationalists and the Republicans fighting and also communists fighting amongst 252 each other and during the whole Spanish Civil War, it is estimated at around 7000 priests and religious 253 were killed. So, it's an intense time of a Catholic country, like in Mexico, undergoing a severe 254 persecution in the Church. So, this whole period of a world at war really is representative again of the 255 fruits of our period we talked about before the period of the revolutions and modernism, how Europe 256 separates herself from the Christian faith and from the Church. What ultimately comes about is the rise 257 of great violence and great death and devastation. So also, now we shift our focus to what happens in 258 ITALY/GERMANY: In Italy and Germany, in this early part of the 20th century, we in this period of time, 259 the Second World War. Our Pope at this time was Pope Pius XI and he was a shrewd diplomat, a very 260 intelligent man, and he desired to safeguard the independence of the Church and the rights of Catholics 261 among these different European nations by entering into and establishing Concordat, and we've 262 mentioned that in our last time period of revolutions and modernism, that was really his main objective 263 of his papacy. As he looked around, he saw a world in conflict and he saw the rise of these new these 264 new forms of government in Europe and other places in the world that are attacking the Church and 265 attacking the independency of the Church and persecuting Catholics and you want to ensure that they 266 can enter into these international agreements, and to try to bring some kind of legality to the 267 safeguarding of the Church. I've heard people say that in Italy in 1922, the fascist come to power under 268 Benito Mussolini, and Mussolini, interestingly enough, took an interesting approach to the Church. He 269 knew he could not go out of his way to actively persecute the Church in Italy, because he knew his 270 history. He knew what happened to those who had persecuted the Church, and this is what he said, The 271 History of Western civilization from the time of the Roman Empire to our days shows that every time the 272 state clashes with religion, it is always the state which ends in defeat. So, Mussolini, despite all his 273 problems, at least he was a good student of history, and he knew that when he went against the Church 274 the Church always wins so what Mussolini decided to do was, he entered into a negotiation with a holy 275 father to try to solve what was known at the time as The Roman question. And the Roman Question 276 basically, came back to what we talked about in our last time period of revolutions and modernism, 277 where the Papal States had been taken away from the Holy Father when Italy was unified. And so, there 278 was this question of what do you do with the Pope and the Vatican? Is the pope supposed to be 279 independent of Italy? Is the Vatican a part of Italy? How do we solve this question? So, Mussolini and 280 Pius XI come together, and they discuss this and ultimately what's issued is what's known as the Lateran
281 Treaty of 1929. And this Lateran Treaty creates a sovereign nation for the Holy Fathers who live in a 282 sovereign nation which he still is head over the Vatican City State. The treaty also guarantees the rights 283 of the Church in Italy and declares that Catholicism would be the soul and official religion in the country.
284 It allows for holy days to be celebrated as state holidays, and for the Church to be able to teach Catholic 285 education in the public schools. The Church for her part agreed to divorce herself from any kind of role 286 in Italian politics. So Pius XI was able to enter into agreement with Mussolini to safeguard the rights of 287 the Church, and also specifically to create and establish a sovereign nation for him to govern and to rule 288 to maintain independency of the papacy, which we've seen over our study of Church history has been a 289 very big question. Throughout the history of our Church, the pope is always trying to be that 290 independent ruler and not to be subject to the whims of a set of various secular rulers.
291 GERMANY: So now we go north, and we see the situation in Germany during the 1920s as a result of a 292 financial crisis in Germany, brought on partially because of the reparations that were enforced on 293 Germany as a result of the Treaty of Versailles ending the First World War. We see the rise in national 294 socialism that begins to attack the Church and actually begins to preach and teach ideology which is 295 completely antithetical to the Christian way of life. And the Church in Germany responds to this ideology 296 of National Socialism between 1920 and 1927. The German Bishops warned the people of Germany 297 against the national socialist ideology on five separate occasions, there was even one well known 298 Catholic priest in Germany and now the name of Father Rupert Mayer. Fr Mayer had been a decorated 299 chaplain in the German Army during the First World War, and he gave a well known and publicized talk, 300 where he answered the question, Can a Catholic be a national socialist? And his answer to that 301 question, was a definitive and absolute, NO, a Catholic could not in good conscience be a member of 302 National Socialism of the Nazi Party because the Nazi Party espoused ideology completely at odds with 303 the Catholic faith in a Christian life in 1931 The Bavarian bishops themselves even said that Nazism is 304 heretical. It's a heresy that strikes at the heart of the Christian faith. So again, we see the Church in 305 Germany and the bishops in Germany rising to the occasion, and actually addressing this ideology of 306 National Socialism so that the people would know exactly where they would fall out between national 307 socialism and the Church. Now, just like Pius XI entered into an agreement with Mussolini in Italy, so 308 too, he was very desirous of entering into an agreement with a Nazi government in Germany because he 309 knew what the Nazi ideology was going to do. It's going to come and persecute the Church. In order to 310 try to safeguard the rights of the Church he wanted to establish an agreement. So, in 1933, he 311 eventually was able to sign a Concordat with Nazi Germany to guarantee the rights of the Church in 312 Germany. This kind of concordat was to safeguard the independency of Catholic organizations in 313 Germany. The German/Nazi government agreed that the Church in Germany would be allowed to have 314 free and unfettered access and communication to the Pope in Rome. It agreed to allow for religious 315 education to be instructed in the schools and also agreed during this quarter that any baptized Jew 316 would be regarded as a Christian, which was a big concession for the Church to receive because he 317 knew, and the Church knew at this time that the National Socialism embraced the idea of anti- semitism.

318 And so in order to have the Nazis agree that anyone who was a Jew, who became a baptized Christian 319 would be considered a Christian; a great concession on the part of the Church because there were those 320 in the Nazi Party, who at the time and later wanted to see any Jews, baptized or not, killed; they could 321 still pass on the ethnicity, regardless of whether or not you converted to the Christian faith. So, the 322 Church was able to get this demand out of the Nazis during this Concordat, although we'll see that soon.
323 after the Concordat was signed, the Nazis and Hitler had no intention of actually following the 324 agreement began an attack on the sanctity of marriage and of human life. Five days after the signing of 325 the Concordat, they announced an issue for a sterilization law, which those in Germany who were 326 considered to be unworthy or corrupt in their body would be forcibly sterilized so that they would not 327 produce others. Also, they issued a law that said if you did not believe in national socialist ideology, that 328 was grounds for divorce. So, you could divorce your wife or your husband simply because they were not 329 a national socialist or didn't believe in party ideology. So, we see here on the very beginnings after this 330 Concordat was signed that the Nazi government had no desire to follow it. They also attacked Catholic 331 youth organizations throughout Germany in order to try to bring the German youth away from the 332 Church and into the party. They actually tried to disband the Catholic youth league that was especially 333 prevalent in the Catholic state of Bavaria to get rid of these Catholic youth organizations. They also held 334 Hitler Youth Movement meetings that were held on Sunday mornings, so that you had to go to the Hitler 335 Youth meeting, and you couldn't go to Church. All this was designed to persecute the Church, and to 336 eradicate Catholicism from German society. Because of this, the breaking of the different pledges and 337 agreements of the Concordat, Pius XI issues an encyclical in 1937, known as Mit Brennender Sorge
338 (1937), which translated to English means with burning concern, and it was the only encyclical ever 339 written in German. Large parts of it were drafted by Eugenio Pacelli, who at the time was the cardinal
340 Secretary of State, and later ascend to the Chair of St. Peter and become Pius XII. In this encyclical, Pius 341 11th, condemned National Socialism as anti-Christian. He also denounced the idea of a national religion 342 or National god, which was a foundation of the Nazi Party ideology. Ultimately, the Nazis banned the 343 publication of this encyclical in German in order to try to ensure that the people would have no 344 knowledge of what the Holy Father said about their party.

345 ITALY: In 1938, Mussolini began to adopt the anti-Jewish racial laws which had been also brought about 346 in Germany. As a result of this adoption in Italy of these antisemitic laws, Pius XII gave a speech in which 347 he specifically said, I say to you, it is impossible for a Christian to take part in anti semitism. It is 348 inadmissible spiritually. We are all Semites. So, we see here the Church, especially under pontificate of 349 Pious XI building a foundation in order to address the major problem of Nazism, as it affects Western 350 Europe, especially Germany during this period of time. Pius XII (Eugenio Pacelli) will take on many of the 351 writings of the works of his predecessor and further the Church's attack against national socialist 352 ideology. Pious XII was very well informed of the situation in Germany, because for an extended period 353 of time, he was the Apostolic Nuncio in Berlin in Germany. He was the Pope's representative to the 354 German government in the 1920s. While he was Apostolic Nuncio he was there during the rise of Hitler 355 and the rise of National Socialism. He was an outspoken critic of both Hitler and the Nazi Party. He gave 356 44 public speeches during his time as Apostolic Nunzio. Of those 44 speeches, 40 contained specific 357 attacks against national socialism. Also in 1936, as Secretary of State, he had established an organization 358 to help Jews emigrate from Germany to other places of Europe and other places of the world because of 359 the growing, ongoing anti-semitism in Germany. When Eugenio Pacelli was elected Pope in 1939, the 360 Germans reacted in a way that helps us see that they saw Pius XII as an enemy of National Socialism.
361 This is what one Berlin newspaper said on hearing that he had been elected Pope, The election of 362 Cardinal Pacelli is not accepted with favor in Germany, because he was always opposed to Nazism. So, 363 we talked about Pius XII and his wartime actions and what he did especially in regard to the Jews, as we 364 continue our discussion here of a World War because unfortunately, in our modern day, a lot of criticism 365 has been levied against Pious XII about his actions and activities during the war. And there's this whole 366 modern myth that has grown up that the Church did not care for what happened in Germany. The 367 Church did not care what was going on against the Jews. The Church did not care about the spreading of 368 the faith, and the Pope was silent, at best and at worst, he was actually personally an anti Semite, is 369 what our modern world tells us about Pius the 12th. And it's an absolute, complete and utter historical 370 fallacy. Pius XII was very much involved in helping the Jews and then trying to ensure the National 371 Socialism did not take root in Germany. So, during his pontificate, war clouds are looming across 372 Germany. He says, in anticipation of this war and trying to get countries to be at peace and not engage 373 in warfare, Nothing is lost by peace. All is lost by war. So, he continues to try to preach peace and bring 374 the nations together. Unfortunately, Hitler and the national socialist government in Germany do not 375 listen and they invade Poland in September of 1939. When Germany invaded Poland, they specifically 376 made it an objective to round up Catholic priests, and when they first invaded the country, they rounded 377 up 700 Priests and had them shot. Ultimately, 3 million Catholic Poles would be sent to concentration 378 camps, many of them priests. One camp in particular was designated almost as a priest concentration 379 camp and that was Dachau where the Germans sent 3000 priests from all over Europe, many of them
380 from Poland, other 3000 sent to the camp, about 1000 of them actually perished during their captivity.
381 Hitler made it a part of his government and a part of his plan during this time of the late 30s and early 382 40s to destroy the Catholic Church. He went so far as to say, one is either a Christian or a German, one
383 cannot be both. So, you had to choose if you were a German citizen during his time under Hitler's 384 mindset, whether you wanted to be a Christian or a German in his mind, you couldn't be both and he 385 wanted to destroy the Catholic Church. He said he wanted to crush the Catholic Church, like a toad and 386 make sure to stamp out its complete existence. During this time, we had several German martyrs who 387 lived up to the calling of the of the faith and suffered martyrdom under the Nazi government. One in 388 particular was an Austrian man named Franz Jägerstätter. Franz refused to join the Wehrmacht, the 389 German army, he was called for conscription, but he refused to do so because of his deep Catholic faith 390 and would have nothing to do with the German war machine and the National Socialist Party. So, he 391 refused to join. Many people tried to convince him to join and still try to maintain his faith because he 392 was a husband and a father, but Franz remained steadfast in his faith. He was arrested and ultimately 393 beheaded in 1943 by the Nazis because of his refusal to join the army. He was beatified in October of 394 2007. And his wife was present at his beatification ceremony. So, he gave this ultimate witness of his life 395 for his faith in Christ. Also, during this time, we have two other great saints who died in Nazi 396 concentration camps, St. Edith Stein (Saint Teresa Benedicta of the Cross). She and her sister were 397 Carmelite nuns living in Holland at the time. They were arrested by the Nazis during a general roundup 398 of Jews and deported to Auschwitz. They were gassed to death in 1942. Another great saint is Maximus 399 Kobe, who was a conventional Polish Franciscan, who had a great devotion to our Blessed Mother and 400 began an organization called the Militia of the Immaculata where he really undertook the efforts of the 401 New Evangelization. He embraced the media and modern ways in which to spread the faith throughout 402 Poland and even through the world. He traveled to Japan and established a city of the Immaculata 403 Christian community in Japan as well. He was rounded up when the Nazis invaded Poland and sent to 404 the concentration camp at Auschwitz. He was in a cellblock where a prisoner escaped and as a result of 405 the one prisoner escaping, the Germans decided in retribution, that 10 prisoners will be executed for 406 that one prisoner's escape. One prisoner that was chosen by the camp commandant was a Polish soldier 407 who was a father and a husband and was very distraught when he was chosen to be executed. And so, 408 St. Maximus Kobe left the formation, which that of itself was an act that could bring about death, but he 409 left formation, walked up to the camp commandant and said, I want to take the place of one of one of 410 these prisoners. The commandant asked him which one he wanted to take the place over and he 411 pointed to that Polish soldier and said, That man has a family. And so, St. Maximilian Kobe and nine 412 other companions were sent to a starvation bunker where they were starved by the Nazis for two 413 weeks. During that two-week period, many of the inmates died and St. Maximilian was able to continue 414 to live along with several of his fellow prisoners and he ministered to them. They sang hymns together 415 and he tried to keep their spirits up. Eventually, he and a few other prisoners were killed by injection of 416 carbolic acid. He died and his body was cremated, his ashes were scattered August 14, 1941. So we have 417 during this period of time, a great example of the lives of martyrs and people who are willing to lay 418 down their life for their faith in Jesus and their faith in the Catholic Church despite these horrific actions 419 of the National Socialists and they provide a great example still for us, of how to live our life in this 420 modern world, always giving an account of the hope that we have within us, the hope of Jesus Christ 421 and His Church.

422 Pope Pius XII's wartime actions during the war continued to hold to the principles that we talked about 423 earlier in this session of Benedict XV; the Vatican would undertake a policy of perfect neutrality. Now, 424 the Germans complained about Benedict's actions during the war because they believed he was aiding 425 the Allied cause and in many ways he actually did. One story was of how he prayed privately every day 426 for Allied victory in order to ensure that the Germans would be defeated but publicly he tried to 427 maintain this level of neutrality. He also undertook the principle of charitable action in order to ensure 428 he dispensed charity to any victim of the war. He didn't choose sides when he brought forth this charity 429 into Europe. He established in particular the Pontifical Relief Society, which was established primarily to 430 help refugees who were fleeing the consequences of war throughout Europe, again, helping no matter 431 who those refugees were. He also established what was known as the Vatican Information Bureau, 432 (similar to the Prisoner of War Bureau that Benedict XV established during the First World War) so that 433 families could contact the Vatican and try to get in touch with their loved ones who have become 434 prisoners of war, and throughout the war, he continued to call for peace. He continued to publicly call 435 for an end to the war and for nations to resolve their differences peacefully and bring an end to the 436 suffering and the death and devastation on the great continent of Europe. He also, in terms his wartime 437 activities towards the Jews were always oriented towards trying to ensure their safety. In order to 438 prevent them from being rounded up and killed and executed by the Nazis. He approved the issuance of 439 fake baptismal certificates for Jews throughout the Church, in the hopes that the Nazis would not round 440 them up or send them to the concentration camps. The baptismal certificate for Jews stated that they

441 were Christians. He also instructed his Apostolic Nuncios throughout the world, His diplomatic 442 representatives throughout the world to work with the local bishops to save as many Jews as possible.
443 ACCUSATIONS: Now, there are basically three modern accusations that are made against Pope Pius in 444 terms of his wartime activities related to the Jews. 1. Modern people sometimes claimed that he didn't 445 speak out. He didn't say anything publicly about Nazi treatment against the Jews. 2. They will say too, he 446 didn't do enough. He did a few things, but it wasn't enough to help the Jews. 3. Another accusation was 447 that he was personally was an anti Semite. And so, we'll take a look at each one of these things and 448 destroy these modern accusations.

449 1. In terms of the first one, that he didn't speak out. absolutely not true. He authorized the Vatican 450 Radio to issue broadcasts about the conditions of the Catholic Church as well as the Jews in Poland so 451 that the world would know what was really going on in the early stages of the war when the Nazis first 452 invaded Poland. Also, Vatican Radio condemned Nazi atrocities and practices. In 1943, one specific 453 Vatican Radio broadcast stated, He who makes a distinction between Jews and other men, is unfaithful
454 to God, and in conflict with God's commands. A very poignant response about the national socialist 455 ideology of anti- semitism. Pious himself personally gave every Christmas an address to the world (popes 456 continue to do this today). During this war time though Pious will specifically address the situation of the 457 Jews and he called for peace. In 1941, he spoke out against them Nazism, the killing of Jews and called 458 for peace. The New York Times, of all esteemed publications, wrote an editorial in 1941 that said this 459 after hearing Pious' Christmas address, The voice of Pius XII is a lonely voice in the silence and darkness 460 and enveloping Europe. He is about the only ruler left on the continent of Europe who dares to raise his 461 voice at all. The Pope puts himself squarely against Hitlerism. In 1942, the New York Times wrote after 462 hearing Pious' Christmas address wrote, The Pope has repudiated the National Socialist, the new 463 European order. He's virtually accusing the German people of injustice toward the Jews. So again, this 464 whole notion that Pious did not speak out against Nazism, did not speak out against the Nazi policies 465 toward the Jews is an absolute historical fallacy, a myth that has no basis in reality. There were times 466 when Pious had to follow the precepts of his previous successor Benedict XV in terms of issuing some 467 protests publicly and trying to issue some protests privately. There was a delicate balancing act he had 468 to do throughout the war, because he knew that there was a danger that if he spoke out too forcefully 469 and too often, that would actually bring about more retribution, and more danger to the Jews. He said 470 that during the war, we might have an obligation to honor fiery words against such things. That is all 471 that is holding us back from doing so as a knowledge that if we should speak, we will simply worsen the 472 predicament of these unfortunate people. Sometimes when the Church leaders spoke out the Nazis 473 retaliated by an even fiercer persecution and roundup of the Jews. And we see this in Holland in 1942.
474 The Dutch bishops as a whole, spoke out against the deportation of Jews. As a result, the Nazis 475 furthered their efforts to deport Jews, and it's estimated that almost 80% of the entire Jewish 476 population of Holland was deported, the highest single percentage of any European nation. So, when 477 the bishop spoke out forcefully, the Nazis retaliated forcefully, so Pious always had to keep that in mind 478 whenever he issued any public condemnation. 2. Now, what about the second accusation of he didn't do 479 enough? The Pope didn't do enough to help the Jews during the Second World War? Again, not true at 480 all. We have to keep in mind the historical context. Pious was aware that Hitler had a plan to invade the 481 Vatican, remove him from power, perhaps even kill him and set up an anti-Pope in Germany. And so, he 482 was very aware and concerned about the independency of the papacy, and also the existence of the 483 Vatican City State. When the Germans invaded Italy, he continued to help the Jews by instructing the 484 bishops to allow Jews to live secretly in monasteries and convents. In the hope that the Nazis wouldn't 485 search there and find them. He also personally had 500 Jews hidden in his summer residence of Castel 486 Gandolfo. It's estimated that 5000 Roman Jews hid throughout the city in Church property during the 487 whole German occupation of the city of Rome. One Jewish historian has estimated that the wartime 488 actions of Pious XII saved over 860,000 Jews. So Pious XV and the actions of the Church saved almost 489 860,000 Jews, about 3% of those who survived the war. So, this whole accusation that Pious didn't do

490 enough is absolutely false. At the end of the war, Pious was widely praised for his efforts. During the 491 war, the chief rabbi of Rome by the name of Israel Zolli¹ actually converted to the Catholic faith. In one 492 measure because of the actions of Pius XII. He actually took as his baptized Christian name, Eugenio, a 493 first name of Pius XV. In honor of the actions of this man during the war, when Pious died in 1958, Golda
494 Meier who was the Israeli representative to the United Nations at the time and later would go on to be 495 Prime Minister of Israel said this, During the 10 years of Nazi terror when our people went through the 496 horrors of martyrdom, the Pope (Pious XV) raised his voice to condemn the persecutions and to 497 commiserate with the victims.” So again, she recognized what Pious had done. Albert Einstein even after 498 when Pius XV died, said this, Only the Church stood squarely across the path of Hitler's campaign for 499 suppressing truth. The Church alone has had the courage and persistence to stand up for intellectual 500 truth and moral freedom. So, at the end of his life, Pius XV was widely praised for his wartime activities.
501 Now, we contrast that with the modern day. How did these modern notions and accusations against 502 Pious come about? They started in 1963. With the writing of a play by a German My name is Ruth 503 Hackworth, and Rolf hackles route roads this play called The deputy was a play based on Pius the 12th 504 and his wartime activities is a seven-hour play. And you characterize pious as a money-grubbing 505 hypocrite who was very passive and who was very passive and disinterested in what was going on in the 506 world. At the time. He ultimately the whole message of the deputy is that pious should have been more 507 vocal that he didn't speak out enough against Nazi Nazism and what the Nazis were doing to the Jews.
508 The Soviet communists also in the 1960s and 70s. Pick up this mantle of accusations against pious and 509 spread it throughout Europe and the world in the hopes to discredit the Catholic Church in order to 510 silence the Church within eastern Europe and their sphere of influence. Ultimately, there was even a 511 book written by an ex-seminarian by the name of John Cornwall in 1999 that was entitled Hitler's Pope, 512 or he makes a specific reference or specific accusation that pious was personally an anti Semite. All of 513 these things are absolutely completely historically false. So, our period of time of the World War comes 514 to an end with a death massive death and devastation and destruction throughout Europe. It's 515 estimated that 100 million people died as a result of the efforts of communism. 25 million people in the 516 Soviet Union 50 million people in China and then 20,000,020 5 million people elsewhere. We also see 517 Nazism nationally. So National Socialism brings about the direct result of 20 million people 6 million 518 Jews so the Church in Europe as a whole has faced this period of death and destruction. We'll see 519 though how the Church then takes the world and takes the Church into a new light when our next time 520 period of this new springtime we'll talk about that. When we convene again.

521
522 ¹Rabbi Zolli: Conversions are like snowflakes no one is like another. Each and every story of how Christ 523 pulls a soul to himself is special, unique, delicately powerful. Each story is touched with redemptive 524 beauty. Even the story of the five-year-old child who prays with his mother contains more than enough 525 unexpected wonder and truthful beauty to make even the fattest angel dance. But the story of Israel 526 Zolli is not about a child on bended knee. It is of a heroic rabbi caught in the maelstrom of World War II .
527 A Christ haunted life: Rabbi Zolli was one of the most remarkable men of the 20th century. A leading 528 European Jewish intellectual, chief rabbi of Rome, who converted to Christianity in 1944. Not much had 529 been written about him the Jewish community considers him a heretic to his faith, and a traitor to his 530 race. To Jesus, he is a trophy of grace. He was born in 1881 in what now is the Ukraine. As a young man, 531 he worked in Florence where he also did his rabbinical studies. He became professor at the University of 532 Padua and was named vice-rabbi of Trieste. In 1918, he became chief rabbi of the city.
533 During this period, Zolli led a divided life. In public, the life of a rabbi celebrating certain number of 534 rituals and shepherding the Jewish community. But alone with the Torah, he lived the life of a writer and 535 thinker. This latter work eventually brought him onto the road leading to Christ.
536 Prepare the way of The Lord: Before God does a work whether in redemption history or on human soul, 537 he begins by preparing the way. The same can be said of Zolli's conversion. Before he publicly confessed, 538 the winds of providence were preparing him. One such preparation was the slow pull of intellectual 539 curiosity. He had always been attracted to the Gospel. As a young rabbi studying the Old Testament, he 540 could not just stop at the end of it: so he continued, and read the New Testament. For him, it was the 541 natural continuation of the Old. He had always been attracted to the figure of Christ on the cross in 542 which he saw the evidence of His being the "Suffering Servant of God" spoken of by Isaiah. Something 543 he did not speak publicly about until after his conversion like Hazel Motes in Flannery O'Connor's Wise 544 Blood, who was haunted by the Compelling Christ. For Zolli like Motes, "Jesus moves from tree to tree in 545 the back of his mind, a wild ragged figure motioning him to turn around and come off into the dark 546 where he was not sure of his footing" In 1938, he wrote The Nazarene in which he explored the 547 exegetical (explainable) problems concerning the relations between the Old and the New Testaments.

548 Soon after publication, he was transferred to Rome and named chief rabbi of the city. Seen as a rabbi 549 who could build bridges and keep the peace continued his work both in public and in private where 550 amidst his prayers and thoughts, Christ moved from tree to tree in the back of his mind.
551 In 1942, the winds of providence began to stir again as the storms of war raged in Europe. By September 552 1943, the Nazis occupied Rome. The War had now come to Rome. Under Mussolini the Jews had been 553 marginalized but not mistreated. Now a Nazi officer named Kappler demanded 110 pounds of gold in 554 place of the Jews. The Jews feverishly managed to collect 77 pounds. The chief Rabbi Zolli realized his 555 helplessness. For the first time he stepped into the Vatican and begged Pope Pius XII: "The New 556 Testament must not abandon the Old Testament!" The Pope was so moved that by that afternoon, the 557 remaining 33 pounds of gold was collected from the parishes of Rome. But Kappler took the Jews as well 558 as the gold as rabbi Zolli begged in vain for him to take him as a trophy instead. His life for his people. A 559 substitution to pay a ransom and satisfy wrath but Zolli's pleas went unheard. He was not the one to 560 represent and redeem his people. Christ once again move from tree to tree in the back of his mind.
561 From the betrayal and disappointment, a great courage arose in him settling into an otherworldly
562 resolve. He walked away from that meeting determined to protect his community. Diplomacy had failed 563 but all his cards had not yet been played. He had only begun to fight. The deportation of the Jews from 564 Rome was fixed for 16 October 1943. Rabbi Zolli called on the Vatican once again. They began at once 565 smuggling Jews out of Rome. Out of the 8000 Jews of Rome, they managed to get 4447 Jews hidden in 566 over 150 monasteries and parish houses, hidden against the threat of the highest punishment from the 567 Nazis. Till the threat was over, they were provided with all they needed for survival.
568 Haunted no more: The Americans freed Rome in June 1944. Yet Rabbi Zolli seemed to be caught in a 569 deeper battle. Father Dezza, a Jesuit and friend of Zolli tells of a conversation they had on August 15, 570 1944. Zolli had come to him and revealed the tension of his soul : "How can I continue living in this way 571 when I think very often of Christ and I love Him?" In October 1944, all tension was put to rest by the 572 living Christ. On the holy day of Yom Kippur (day of Atonement), Zolli had an extraordinary experience 573 which would come to be decisive. He was in the synagogue in contemplation and suddenly, in a vision 574 He saw Christ beside him. Christ said to him: "You are here for the last time: from now on you will follow 575 Me." That was it. Zolli was profoundly moved, visibly shaken and spiritually renewed. He went to his 576 knees a Rabbi but rose a Christian. At home that evening, he did not want to say anything to his family, 577 but his wife told him that while he was in the synagogue celebrating Yom Kippur, she too had seen a 578 figure of Christ next to him. His daughter Miriam, who was then 18, added that she had seen Jesus in a 579 dream. For Rabbi Zolli it was the last sign he needed. He resigned from the synagogue and on 17 580 February 1945, Israel Zolli, the Chief Rabbi of Rome, and his wife made public confessions of faith in 581 Christ and received a Christian baptism identifying them as a follower of Christ. After 40 years of 582 rabbinical studies with fingers blackened by ink from hours of study, a tired rabbi weary from war's 583 bitter sting, and weak from protecting his flock rose from the waters to find God was already there, with 584 him, face to face.
585 Epilogue: Certainty of the mountains: In an interview after his baptism the good rabbi was asked why 586 he had given up the synagogue for the Church, he gave an answer that showed he had a keen 587 understanding of biblical realities: "But I have not given it up. Christianity is the integration of the 588 synagogue. The synagogue was a promise, and Christianity is the fulfillment of that promise. The 589 synagogue pointed to Christianity: Christianity presupposes the synagogue. So you see, one cannot exist 590 without the other. What I converted to was the living Christianity.”
